KNOXVILLE MUSEUM OF ART

STANDARD OF CONDUCT & ETHICS FOR VOLUNTEERS

The following are standard values practiced here and at peer museums:

- It is museum policy that all services and opportunities are provided to all persons without regard to race, color or national origin.
- Volunteering at KMA is a public trust and involves great responsibility.
- In all activities, Museum staff members, trustees and volunteers must act with integrity and in accordance with stringent ethical principles.
- Access to the Museum's internal activities and information is a trust.

The Volunteers of the Knoxville Museum of Art (hereafter "Museum") make an essential contribution to fulfilling the mission of the Museum.

The Museum's Volunteers are considered to be all those, including members of the Board of Trustees, who voluntarily serve the Museum without compensation.

Museum Volunteers share with staff and members of the Board of Trustees a responsibility to support a code of ethical behavior consistent with the public trust accorded the Museum and must agree to abide by the spirit as well as the letter of the Museum's (a) Code of Ethics, (b) Collection Management Policies and (c) Standard of Conduct for Volunteers; obey all security and safety rules and emergency management and comply with all other Museum policies and procedures.

Museum Volunteers should accept responsibility for understanding the policies and programs adopted by the Museum's Board of Trustees and support the achievement of these policies and programs.

Access to the Museum's internal activities is a privilege, and the lack of material compensation for effort expended in behalf of the Museum in no way frees any Volunteer from adherence to the standards that apply to paid staff.

The Volunteer must work toward the betterment of the institution and not for personal gain, other than the natural satisfaction and enrichment of participating in the Museum. While the Museum may accord certain special privileges to Volunteers, they should not accept gifts, favors, loans or things of value from other parties in connection with carrying out duties for the institution.

Volunteers who deal with the Museum's fundraising, collections and interpretive programs work in areas that are especially sensitive. In particular, volunteers may find that they have access to confidential information and should respect that confidentiality as part of the vital support they render to the Museum.

Museum Volunteers should consider themselves obligated to fulfill their responsibilities in the same spirit as though they were a part of the paid staff and must give sufficient advance notice to cancel scheduled shifts.

In addition, we require that volunteers agree to the following:

1. Provide timely advance notification to your staff supervisor or manager or Security (525-6101, ext. 252) of absences or termination. (Front Desk volunteers in particular are essential staff in that we cannot leave that position unattended during hours the museum is open to the public.)
2. Immediately direct all media inquiries to the Director of Communications or the Director's Office
3. Clear with the Director of Communications or Directors Office any outside solicitation materials
4. Immediately notify a Security Guard or Security Office (ext. 252) if you observe or are involved in an accident on the museum premises
5. Comply with scheduling and dress requirements of the Knoxville Museum of Art
6. Complete orientation, training courses or on-the-job training
7. Perform with a high standard of customer service, professional conduct and accountability
8. Honor and respect the confidentiality of sensitive or proprietary information and agree not to disclose privileged or confidential information to unauthorized parties
9. Treat all people with dignity and respect
10. Bring credit to the Museum by your public demeanor
11. Serve as goodwill ambassadors in the community on behalf of the Knoxville Museum of Art
12. Encourage other volunteers to embrace and practice these ethical principles and standards of conduct
13. Drinking alcoholic beverages on the job or immediately before reporting for duty is not allowed. Infraction of this rule leads to dismissal.

I acknowledge that consistent with the public trust accorded museums, KMA Volunteers share with staff and the Board of Trustees a responsibility to support, understand, and abide by codes of ethical behavior adopted by the Knoxville Museum of Art.
